Have Right to Reasonable In- spection of All Clubs, Says the City Attorney

BREAK DOORS IF NECESSARY

In Written Opinion, McKesson
Answers Himebaugh's Question as to Legal Status

The police department has full authority to make all reasonable regulation of clubs and to take such action as will secure the enforcement of the laws and city ordinances with regard to gambling, says City Attorney M. Kossow. In a written opinion in response to Police Commissioner Hough's query on the question, "Will the attorney say that the police department has the right to make regulations of clubs?"

are immune, whether socialists or otherwise. And that if necessary, I enforce the law, the police must break in the doors. His opinion follows in full:

McKesson's Opinion.

January 28, 1934

Hon. J. A. Hinebaugh,
Commissioner of Public Safety,
Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter of the 14th, following inquiry:

If this department shall have reason to believe that any person other offenses are being committed in any social club, has the department or its officers the right to enter said premises for purposes of inspection, and if not, what are the powers and duties of this department in such cases?

You request a written opinion. The statutes of Colorado make gambling a crime wherever practiced. The law makes no distinction as to the place where the crime is committed. In the eyes of the law it is as much a crime to gamble in a social club as it is in a saloon, or on the corner of a street.

TAKING IN SIGHTS, MESSENGER TARDY WITH ARIZONA VOTE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Wilfred T. Webb, Arizona's electoral vote messenger for whom Senators Ashurst and Smith have been searching by telegraph for two days, delivered the official vote of the state to the vice presidential office, left standing, at the

Mr. Webb said he reached New York early today. At breakfast he picked up a newspaper and read with surprise that the senators were repealing the president's salary raise today. Although a date-late, the excuse Mr. Webb offered for his tardiness was considered sufficient to entitle him to the mileage of $642.75 and to entitle the state to its vote.

"I didn't know anything about the law," said Webb, who is a sunburned rafter, "so I got a lawyer friend to draw me up a set of instructions. He told me I had to deliver the vote to Washington February 1, and so I have."

been taking my time to get here. I spoiled my appetite for breakfast though when I saw how badly I was wanted this morning."

Mr. Webb was escorted by newspaper men when he went to draw his money, but no objection was raised at the disbursing office and he breathed a sigh of relief. The votes are now in

HUNDREDS FLOOD

VICTIMS IN NEED

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—Capt. William Elliott, in charge of the army supply depot here, who went to Evansville Ind., Sunday to investigate flood conditions, telegraphed to St. Louis to day that 600 persons at Ashbyburg, Ky. are in need of food and clothing and that he has bought rations for 1,500 persons and 500 head of stock.

CAIRO, Ill. Jan. 23.—The Ohio river has been stationary for two days with the gauge marking 43.9 feet. The Cotton Belt railway is still out of business between Birds Point and Malden Mo., with water covering most of the track.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Army officers have concluded that it will be impossible to contend with the great Beulah crevasse in the Mississippi river levee system near Greenville

Miss., until next summer. They can "tie" the ends of the break by piling and prevent further erosion, but it is believed to be impossible to close the gap until lower water. In the meantime it is said 1,000 square miles of corn and cotton lands will be under water until April at least.

CLEANSE YOUR LIVER AND BOWELS WITH DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Removes the sour bile, gases and clogged-up waste without gripe or nausea. No headache, indigestion, constipation, biliousness or coated tongue.

Foul breath, coated tongue, dull, throbbing headache, stomach sour and full of gases, indigestion, biliousness and a sallow complexion, mean that your liver and bowels are clogged with waste matter, that these drainage organs of the body are obstructed, liver stagnant and stomach full of poisonous gases, sour bile and undigested, fermenting food not properly carried off.

Most of our ills are caused by constipated bowels. We all need a laxative sometimes, nobody can doubt that. The only question is, which one is the best? And that isn't a question any more. Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, must act in a harmless, gentle and natural way. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without injury. Its action is the action of fruit—of eating coarse food—or taking exercise. It is a true and effective liver and bowel cleanser and regulator.

Most folks dread physic—they shrink from the taste and after effects. Syrup of Figs is delicious, and, besides, you don't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged-up waste of the system is gently but thoroughly moved on and out of the bowels without griping or weakness.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." This is the old reliable and only genuine. Refuse, with contempt, any other Fig Syrup recommended as good. They are imitations meant to deceive you. Read the label carefully and look for the name California Fig Syrup Company.

public street. Murder is a crime wherever committed, and so is gambling. No environment can take away from gambling the criminal character given it by the law.

But the law goes further in the addition it casts upon the crime of gambling by making it a crime for a person to permit gambling in any part of a building or place occupied by him, or to knowingly permit gambling in any building or place owned by him, as appears from section 1730 of the general statutes of 1905, 1909, which section is as follows:

Quotes From Statute.

Section 1730. Gambling Rooms.—Guilty Knowledge.—Penalties.—If any person shall keep any room, building, arbor, booth, shed or tenement of any description, to be used or occupied for gambling, or shall knowingly permit, the same to be used or occupied for gambling; or if any person being the owner of any room, building, arbor, booth, shed or tenement, of any description, shall rent the same to be used or occupied for gambling, the person so offending, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than $20 nor more than $500, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than 10 days nor more than 30 days, or both, at the discretion of the court; and if the owner of any room, building, arbor, booth, shed or tenement of any description shall know that any gambling tables, apparatus or establishment is kept or used in such room, building, arbor, booth, shed or tenement for gambling and winning, betting or gaining money or other property, and shall not forthwith cause complaint to be made against the person so keeping or using such room, building, arbor, booth, shed or tenement, he shall be taken, held and considered to have knowingly permitted the same to be used and occupied for gambling. Every day for which any person or persons shall keep any house, room, building, tent or tenement of any description, to be used or occupied for gambling and winning, betting or gaining money or other property, and shall not forthwith cause complaint to be made against the person so keeping or using such room, building, arbor, booth, shed or tenement for gambling, shall be deemed and held to be a separate and distinct offense.

It is clear that this section makes it unlawful for any social club to permit gambling on any part of its premises or buildings owned or occupied by it.

The law does not stop at making gambling a crime and making it, also, a crime to permit gambling, but it gives the peace officers extraordinary authority to detect and suppress the crime. The law makes it the duty of sheriffs, coroners, constables and police officers of cities to enter by force where necessary, any place where gambling is practiced, for the purpose of seizing the gambling devices and arresting the persons found in possession of the same. This section reads as follows:

May Break in If Necessary.

Section 1731. Duty of Officers to Seize Property.—Breaking Doors. It shall be the duty of all sheriffs, coroners, constables, police officers of cities, and other officers charged with executing the laws of this state, whenever it shall come to the knowledge of any such officer that any person has in his possession any cards, tables, checks, balls, wheels or gambling devices of any nature or kind, used or kept for the purpose of gambling or playing at any game of chance; or that any cards, tables, checks, balls, wheels or gambling devices used or kept for the purposes aforesaid may be found in any place, to seize and take such cards, tables, checks, balls, wheels or gambling devices, and convey the same before some judge or justice of the peace of the county in which the same may be found, and it shall be the duty of such judge or justice of the peace to inquire of such witnesses as he shall summon to appear before him in that behalf, touching the nature of such gambling devices, and if such judge or justice shall ascertain that the same are used or kept for the purpose of gambling, he shall cause the same to be destroyed, and shall be his duty to restore the same. It shall be lawful for officers in executing the duties imposed upon them by this section to break open doors for the purpose of obtaining possession of any such gambling devices; and all persons having possession of any of the articles aforesaid shall be conveyed before some judge or justice of the peace of the county in which they may be found, and held or committed for appearance at the next term of the district court to answer to any indictment or information which may be preferred against them or any of them.

The ordinances of the city supplement the state law as follows:

City Reinforces State.

Section 237. Gaming. No person shall play for money or other valuable thing at any game, with cards, dice, billiards, or with any other article, instrument or thing, the use of which may be used for the purpose of playing at a game of chance or winning or losing any money or any other thing of value, nor shall bet upon any game others may be playing. No person shall keep a gaming house in any building or other place by himself or his agent used or occupied, procure or permit any persons to frequent or come together to play for money or other valuable thing at any game, nor shall keep nor suffer to be kept any table or other apparatus for the purpose of playing at any game of chance or winning or losing any money or any other thing of value, nor shall keep nor rent any such place for any such purpose. The chief of police may seize, or cause to be seized, any instrument, device or thing used for the purpose of gambling or by owning or using which money or other property or thing may be lost or won, and any such instrument, device or thing shall be demolished or destroyed, as the mayor shall direct. Every clock, tape machine, slot machine or other device for the reception of money on chance or upon the action of which money is staked or hazardous, bet, won or lost, is hereby declared to be a nuisance, and is prohibited by ordinance No. 120, passed April 2, 1907.

Thus we find that the statutes of the state and the ordinances of the city not only give the police officers authority to go anywhere they know gambling is practiced for purposes of inspection, but it is their positive duty to go to such places for the purpose of arresting the persons in possession of any gambling devices.

No Violators Immune.

A social club, like any other private place, should be immune from police surveillance as long as it observes the law. But when it violates the law, it permits the law to be violated within its confines. It has no more or other rights than any other law breaker. And this is true of every club, whether it be a club of wealth or of poverty. No amount of money or influential membership can give a club that violates the law a bill of health that will be accepted by the law.

"HUMAN BOMB" GETS 20-YEAR SENTENCE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 28.—Carl Riedelbach of Salt Lake City, the man who terrorized the Central police station November 19 last, with an infernal machine was sentenced today to 20 years in the penitentiary. The sentence was imposed after Riedelbach had declared he believed dynamite was a good means of righting some social wrongs.

"If I thought your allegiance to dynamite was an unalterable principle I would sentence you to life imprisonment," said the court, "but I think 20 years in the penitentiary will give you plenty of time to change your mind."

Riedelbach's good humor withstood even this shock and he smiled and winked at Detectives Browne, Hosick and Fitzgerald, the men who snatched him from the station. He was a short, stout, middle-aged man, with a short, curly, graying hair, and a friendly expression. He was dressed in a suit and tie, and was looking at the camera with a slight smile.

The three officers were officially decorated with medals for their bravery and Riedelbach joked them about it as he was taken back to jail, after a motion for a third trial had been denied.

Crime in broadcloth may be harder to catch than when in rags, but it should be apprehended just the same. My opinion is that your department has lawful authority to inspect any social club, or any other place, where it knows or has good reason to believe that gambling is practiced or permitted.

Your department has authority to inspect all licensed clubs to see that they do not violate the liquor ordinance of the city, as section 25 of said ordinance provides, as follows:

Section 25. Inspection. The mayor, or chief of police, any member of the council, any member of the police force of the city, or any person authorized in writing by the mayor, or chief of police, shall have the right and authority to inspect and examine at any time all the premises of any licensed bar, saloon, or other place where intoxicating liquor may be sold or served, and all premises occupied by any pharmacy or drug store for which a permit shall have been granted by the city. No person shall refuse to allow the inspection or examination of such premises by any of the persons designated in this section.

Let me say in conclusion, Your department has full authority to make all reasonable inspections and take such action as will secure the enforcement of the state laws and the city ordinances, and you are exercising this authority fairly in the interest of law and order, the courts will sustain your action.

Yours very respectfully,

C. L. HEDGECOCK,

City Attorney.

FORMER STATE TREASURER PA. HAS PLAN TO SOLVE THE CURRENCY PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The issue of paper legal tender, based on government, state and municipal bonds and backed by a gold reserve of at least 20 per cent, was recommended as a solution of the currency problem by W. H. Berry, former state treasurer of Pennsylvania, today before the house ways and means committee.

Mr. Berry told the committee that the evil of the present system, which is an insufficient supply of legal tender, is to support the expanded credit demanded by business interests of the country.

"The banking laws are responsible for the accumulation of money in the reserve cities," he said. "A lack of cash in reserve restricts the banks in the credit they can allow, and this inevitably results in a discrimination as to borrowers. So long as this situation obtains there will be a money trust."

A chair produced by Mr. Berry purported to show that banks followed an expansion of credit to a point where it was beyond the support of the available cash reserves.

"That is the situation now," he continued. "The credits granted have been extended to a point where reserves are but 2 per cent of the outstanding obligations of the banks. Unsound loans are being made in this way, a panic inevitably will follow. That 2 per cent was about the breaking point of 1907."

Last night there was a current of opposition to him, but it disappeared, and he carried the entire membership present.

Senator Fall Re-elected. SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 28.—United States Senator Albert B. Fall, Republican, was today reelected for the term beginning March 4 by the vote of the Republicans and Progressives in the two houses of the legislature. Senator Fall received 23 votes in the house and 15 in the senate, or 42 votes in all. Thirty-seven were necessary to elect. The Democrats voted solidly for Lieut. Gov. E. C. de Baca. He received 18 votes in the house and seven in the senate, a total of 25.

It was the third election of Senator Fall within a year. He was elected last year for the short term, and later reelected for the long term. No election was contemplated at this session, but a decision by Sumners Burkhart, legal advisor to the governor, that the second election was invalid, not being in conformity with the United States statutes governing senatorial elections, brought about the election today.

FORMER WELL KNOWN RAILROAD MAN DIES

WALSBERG, Jan. 28.—Frank Dunlop, former general agent of the Chicago Great Western railroad at Omaha, died here today of delirium tremens. He died in poverty.

OMAHA, Jan. 28.—Frank Dunlop, who died in Walsburg, Colo., today, at one time was known as one of the "live wires" in this city. He had the confidence of the business public and was a successful man. Before leaving Omaha, however, he became involved with his employers. He had been a leading spirit in the Knights of Akshoben, in which organization he was head of the ritual committee, and prepared many of the "stunts" which served as entertainment for many prominent persons, including Presidents Roosevelt and Taft.

GOV. WILSON LAUDS SEN. LA FOLLETTE? Confers With New Jersey Politicians About His Pet Trust Measures

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 28.—President elect Wilson and the Democratic members of the New Jersey legislature had a two hours' conference this afternoon behind closed doors on a program to be followed at the present session with respect to measures to which the Democrats are pledged in the platform adopted at the Democratic state convention last October.

The conference discussed briefly Governor Wilson's seven antitrust bills, further consideration of which was deferred until the meeting next week. Senator Davis, who had charge of the bills, talked with the governor earlier in the day with regard to the question of public hearings.

"The governor agreed with me," said Senator Davis, "that hearings should be heard and opportunities be given for full and free discussion, but he held that these hearings should take place immediately, so as not to delay action on the bills."

The governor left here at 4:25 o'clock to attend a banquet in Atlantic City tonight.

Attends Farewell Banquet. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 28.—President-elect Wilson attended tonight a farewell dinner given in his honor by members of the state senate. Republicans and Democrats alike attended, and only members of the senate were admitted. None of the speeches was to be reported, and an informal program of fun and diversion was arranged.

The governor's speech, it was learned from some of the diners, largely was in reminiscence of his New Jersey administration, though he took occasion to emphasize again his interest in the passage of the corporation bills, referring to the fight in other states for progressive legislation, the governor, according to persons present, lauded the efforts of Senator La Follette in that cause.

PERRY CLAIMS SELF DEFENSE FOR MURDER

AKRON, Colo., Jan. 28.—George Perry, testifying in his own behalf at his trial here today on the charge of having murdered Stuart Lanterman, October 15, declared that he shot Lanterman in self-defense. He testified that Lanterman had uttered threats against his life and had burned his home and attacked his stock because, he stated, two years previously Lanterman's sister had accused him of attempting to alienate her affections from her husband. Perry began testifying at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and at 11 o'clock tonight still was on the stand. Both Perry and Lanterman were prominent ranchmen.

Other witnesses testified to the shooting, two of them declaring Perry opened fire on Lanterman while the latter was unarmed, though it was said Lanterman instantly possessed himself of a rifle after the first shot was fired and a duel followed. The witnesses declared Perry, before shooting, made some reference to Lanterman's alleged threat against his life.

BEGIN INVESTIGATION OF RAILWAY MAIL CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—General investigation of the compensation to be paid railroads by the government for transportation of mail was begun today by the joint congressional committee selected in the last session of congress.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart was examined at length by the committee at a hearing which continued late into the night. He said that the plan proposed by the postoffice department to pay railroads by the car space used instead of the present system of paying by weight would not affect a large saving to the government. Senator Bourne elicited that certain modifications in the plan would be necessary "in order to be fair to the railroads."

Would Wipe Out Savings. "What would be the effect of these modifications on the expected savings of $9,000,000 contemplated by the original postoffice plan?" asked Senator Bourne.

Mr. Stewart said he believed that they "would eliminate" the saving. President Ralph Peters of the Long Island railroad, said the space plan would result in 75 different rates for as many different railroads and precipitate endless confusion, and that the railroads would get actually underpaid $13,000,000 a year for mail transportation.

BANKERS CONVICTED OF ILLEGAL TRANSACTIONS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28.—A verdict of guilty was returned after 10 minutes' deliberation tonight in the case of Eugene E. Buhler, president of the defunct Teutonia bank, and Joseph Camilla, director and chairman of the bank's finance committee, charged jointly with having received deposits after they knew the institution to be in a failing condition. Sentence was deferred.

DR. FRIEDMANN TO TEST CURE IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—According to a letter received by Dr. E. E. Finlay, president of the Astoria National bank of this city, Dr. P. F. Friedmann, the German scientist who claims to have discovered a cure for the venereal disease, will arrive here on February 1, and put his discovery to a test. Dr. Friedmann has offered the donor of $10,000 of the treatment proves successful, the condition of the award is that the cure must be demonstrated in several patients. One of these is to be Dr. E. E. Finlay's son-in-law, who has suffered from the disease for some time.

Dr. Friedmann's letter says Mr. Finlay was of a purely private nature, and he did not feel at liberty to make it public. He added that it dissipated all doubts as to the scientist's willingness to prove the value of his cure.

ILLINOIS DEADLOCK REMAINS UNBROKEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 28.—The sixty-fifth ballot in the contest for speaker in the lower house of the Illinois legislature failed today to break the deadlock that has prevented the organization of the legislature and the inauguration of Governor Duane since January 3.

COSGRIF-MARTIN WEDDING TAKES PLACE IN CHEYENNE. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 28.—Thomas A. Cosgriff of Cheyenne and Denver and Miss Rose Martin, librarian of the Cheyenne public library, were married here today by Bishop Patrick A. McGovern. STEEL REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Total earnings of the United States steel corporation for the last quarter of 1912 are $5,122,045 in excess of the quarter immediately preceding, while net earnings are greater by $4,874,461.

Compared with the fourth quarter of 1911, the corresponding period of 1912 shows total and net gains respectively of $12,080,442 and $5,786,405. Surplus net income for the last quarter of 1912 amounted to $7,410,979 and deducting the deficit for previous quarters of the year a balance surplus of $3,610,129 remains, as against $4,735,492 in 1911. At the end of 1910 a balance surplus of $10,928,719 was carried forward.

The corporation has made no appropriations for account of expenditures, such as new plants or additional property since the last quarter of 1910, when $5,000,000 was set aside for this purpose, with an additional $1,000,000 to cover advanced mining royalties. The statement in detail shows the highest earnings for October, with a marked recession in November and some slight recovery in December.

Chairman Gary referred to the exhibit as "remarkably good" and spoke hopefully of the outlook, saying that orders or specifications were most satisfactory with few cancellations. He added that the matter of the government dissolution suit was not discussed at all by the directors. No changes in the board or finance committee were announced, although it is understood that some are impending.

TO INVESTIGATE

some it was supposed to be aimed at Senator Thomas. In deference to the opinion of the Democratic caucus, it was withdrawn by its author, and was then reintroduced by a Republican. The Democratic senators of the senate voted to lay it on the table.

Today the house resolution was reported back from the committee on federal relations, with the recommendation that it be laid on the table, "inasmuch as such action would be inopportune at this time." Mr. Carrig wanted to know what the committee meant by the word inopportune, but no one seemed ready to supply this information, and Carrig moved to refer it to the committee.

To have adopted the committee's report would have killed the resolution, and the vote upon the motion to refer showed that there are a good many Democrats that did not want to go on record as opposing this protest against tariff discrimination against Colorado. The motion to refer was carried by the narrow vote of 20 to 28, those voting in the affirmative being: Ardourel, Boyle, Cantu, Carrig, Cunningham, Elmore, Gates of Montezuma, Gilbert, Goss, Hasty, Hicks, Howells, Humason, Knuth, Lee, Meyer, Newton, Norvell, Paucker, Persons, Riddie, Rowan, Slatery, Smedley, Smith, Swad, Taft, Thomas, Turnbull, Warner. The roll-call showed the Progressive-Republican minority voting with the Democrats from the mining counties and some others. The resolution now "reposes in limbo" in the committee.

Industrial Works Bill Up.

The house also refused to accept an adverse report upon the bill authorizing a bond issue of $4,000,000 for the building of sugar factories and other industrial works by the state. The report of the committee was opposed both to the bill and to the financial practicability of the bill, but the house decided to refer it to the committee of the whole without recommendation, by a vote of 41 to 10, those voting in the negative being Ashton, Bennett, Fincher, Frazzini, Gatus of Rio Grande, Phillips, Schaeffer, Simpson, Williams, Wright and Young. Several of the members, in explaining their vote, said they were opposed to the proposition as they understood it, but wished to hear it discussed in the house.

The house committee on judiciary announced that it has under contemplation a complete rearrangement of the judicial districts of the state. For that reason, numerous bills, some of which propose to increase the number of judges, and others for the formation of new judicial districts, were adversely reported to the house, but upon the protests of their authors were referred back to the judiciary committee. There are now 15 judicial districts in the state and to judge by the bills that have been introduced the work is practically all of them is too much for the present number of judges.

Sets Example of Economy.

The senate this morning set a good example in economy. Senator Burris of Pueblo is chairman of the finance committee and Senator Metz also of Pueblo was called to the chair to preside over the committee of the whole. Then a report from the finance committee was presented, reducing the short appropriation bill for the support and maintenance of the insane asylum from $50,000 to $40,000. Senator Carver protested against the decrease as inconsistent with the claim that the asylum was suffering from lack of appropriation, but both the Pueblo senators approved the reduction, and it was passed on second reading as amended. To prevent misunderstanding, it should be added that the general appropriation near the end of the session is commonly made for a specific sum, less the amount of the short appropriation. Thus, the economy play may make a difference only between the two bills, while the institution gets the same amount in the end.

The number of bills increases as the time limit for introduction draws to a close. There is, however, less than the customary number, and, in particular, there is a notable absence of "frank legislation" and of "pork barrel" appropriations from the Internal Improvement fund. There is a general belief that the governor will veto any bills of the kind that may be passed, but a few members have introduced bills of this kind, "just in case anything should happen."

Hobo Convention Opens in New Orleans Today, if Cops Don't Interfere

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28.—Belated freight trains and enforcement of vagrancy laws in the southern states combined to postpone the first session of the annual national hobo convention, scheduled for tonight. Police authorities of Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas and other nearby states are interrupting the itinerary of many of the delegates, according to Jefferson Davis, president of the "Casual, Unskilled and Migratory Workers of America."

Seventy-five of the "workers" are in the New Orleans house of detention on vagrancy charges, and Chief of Police Reynolds has announced that every man under arrest must give a good account of himself or remain in prison until after the Mardi Gras.

James Eads How of St. Louis, so-called "Millionaire Hobo," and President Davis had made unsuccessful efforts to rent a hall for the convention, which they hope to convene tomorrow.

SEVERAL ARE INJURED IN BOILER EXPLOSION

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 28.—Seven employees of the Upson Nut company were injured seriously and a dozen more received cuts and bruises from flying glass and debris today when the molten metal casting furnace was spilled on the damp floor and exploded, partly wrecking the plant and breaking several large steam pipes. Clouds of steam and flying drops of the molten metal caused the serious injuries to the seven workmen, all of whom will recover.

GIRLS PART WITH SKIN TO SAVE GIRL'S LIFE

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—Ten girls ranging in ages from 8 to 16 bared their arms to the surgeon's knife today to furnish skin to heal the burns of Raha Hainda, 10-year-old girl, who nearly perished Christmas day in a fire which brought death to her father, mother and baby sister and destroyed the Hainda farm house near Arnett, Okla.

Surgeons pronounced today's part of the operation successful.

THIRD DEGREE FORCED GIRL TO ADMIT FIRING ST. LOUIS HOTEL, CHARGE

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—Three "third degree" methods were used by the police to extract a confession, later repudiated, from Barbara Gladys Arnold that she had fired the Hotel Berlin, November 1, causing the death of three persons, was the testimony of Ray William J. Williamson, the 16-year-old nurse girl's former employer, at the girl's trial today on a charge of first-degree arson in connection with an alleged attempt to set fire to the Windermer hotel, November 5. The minister said Chief of Detectives Allender asked the girl: "You set fire to the Hotel Berlin, didn't you?" or "You know you set fire to the hotel?" more than 40 times before she answered in the affirmative. A few days later the girl denied she had caused the fire.

GOV. SULZER GIVES $100 TO PAY VETERAN'S DEBTS

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Governor Sulzer contributed today $100 to a fund to pay the $23,476 unaccounted for by General Daniel Sickles, as chairman of the New York monument commission. In announcing his contribution, the governor said:

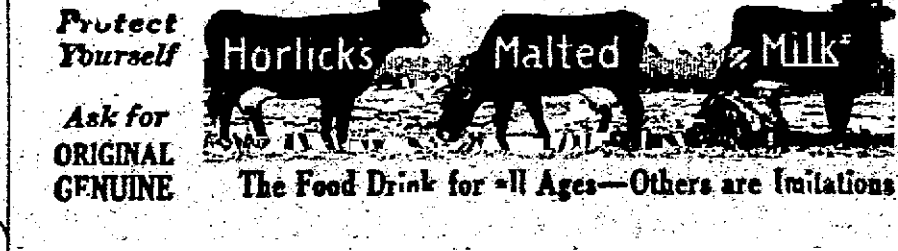

"Very few men in this country have done more for the state, the country, and the flag than General Sickles. My sympathy goes out to him in his hour of trial."

Governor Sulzer received a telegram from United States Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, in which he said:

"Are the prosperous and generous men of New York to allow a gallant hero like General Sickles to suffer for the want of $23,000? Can you not appeal to the philanthropic and generous men who have profited by a united country to meet this situation before it is too late?"

THE LIVESTOCK SHOW

IT IS not many years since Colorado was known to the world only as a mining state. First impressions are lasting, and throughout the country the impression probably is still general that the output of Colorado mines far outranks in value any of its other products. But the truth is that although our production of precious metals continues to be greater than that of any other state except California, the mining industry long since lost first place, and may even have dropped to third place. Agriculture, stock growing, fruit growing and manufacturing have all made prodigious gains within the last decade, and the aggregate value of the products of the farm is now far ahead of the value of mineral products.

It must have been a surprise even to the well informed to read of the magnitude of the stock show in Denver last week. This was the eighth annual exhibit of the National Western Stock show, and during the six days it was attended by no less than 150,000 people. In point of general excellence the Denver show has become the third in importance in the country, ranking after those of Chicago and Kansas City. But in the quality of the exhibits of feeder cattle and in the volume of the sales it stands first. In a single twenty-four hours last week the feeder sales amounted to the astonishing sum of $1,500,000, which establishes a new record in the history of livestock shows. Sales of pure bred cattle were conducted by the American Shorthorn Breeders association and the American Hereford Breeders association, when 73 Shorthorns were sold at an average price of $176.

These are facts and figures of no little significance. One need not be a pioneer resident of Colorado to recall the days when pure bred cattle were almost unknown in this state. Texas cattle of uncertain lineage and inferior grade roamed the plains and went to their final doom in packing houses at Chicago or Kansas City without ever having known the taste of corn, alfalfa or beet pulp. Now the breed vaguely known as Texas cattle have almost passed away in Colorado and their place has been taken by other and better strains. All over the state there are stockmen who devote their energies wholly to the production of pure bred cattle of the highest grade, animals which have repeatedly demonstrated their ability to win first prizes in competition with the whole country.

Of course, the men who specialize in this branch of the industry are not producing many beef cattle for market, but they are raising the animals which are forming the nucleus of pure bred herds which to a greater extent every year are supplying the better grades of meat. The standard of cattle production is steadily being raised as stockmen generally come to understand that there is more money to be made by improving the breeds.

The characteristic American willingness to pay a good price for a good article creates a demand for the better grades of meat which is far beyond the supply, and the probable result will be the gradual disappearance from the stock growing industry of all except the pure bred strains.

ONE OF THE UNDESIRABLES

THE reelection of Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming is a political misfortune of more than local concern. Warren has been in the Senate since 1890, and his activities there have been a demoralizing influence in politics and government, however satisfying they may have been to the local pride of his constituents who like to see Government funds expended for the erection in their state of unnecessary military posts, postoffices and other public buildings.

Senator Warren is an astute politician and an indefatigable and amazingly successful getter of the things he wants. His specialty is getting Congress to vote money to be expended in Wyoming. He got Congress to improve Fort Russell and strengthen its garrison until it is now one of the biggest army posts in the country, although military experts agree that it ought to be wholly abandoned because it is located in the wrong place. Likewise, he has managed to get postoffice buildings suitable for cities of 50,000 population erected in most of the short grass towns of Wyoming.

All this, however, is of relatively small importance, for it is only a form of petty waste which nearly every other congressman is practicing with greater or less success, according to his energy and pull. Senator Warren's real unfitness for public service in his present capacity lies in his ingrained and uncompromising reactionism. He is a politician of the old and now thoroughly discredited school, one who puts party first and principle last. He is a staunch and able fighter against all progressive legislation, and his continuance for another six years in the Senate means the retention of another obstacle in the path of needed reform.

A CAR LINE TO ST. FRANCIS?

FROM time to time since the street railway company abandoned its line on Pikes Peak avenue east of the Santa Fe tracks the matter of getting a car service to St. Francis hospital has been agitated. Formerly the line ran directly past the hospital, but since its removal the nearest point is at Kiowa and Institute streets, a block away. This distance in itself is of less importance as a source of inconvenience than the fact that there is a steep hill in that block. The infrequency of the car service on the Institute street line tends further to increase the inaccessibility of the hospital.

St. Francis is one of the largest hospitals in Colorado Springs, and is constantly occupied by scores of patients who are visited daily by their friends. Its comparative isolation, occasioned by street railway conditions, is therefore a source of no little public inconvenience, which could easily be remedied either by the diversion of the Institute street line or a short extension of the line which now terminates at the Santa Fe depot.

AFTER THE MILK IS SPILT

FREE sugar would mean a loss of fifty-two million dollars in government revenue and practically all of this would go into the pockets of the refiners instead of being passed to the people by reduced prices of sugar. This was the game the refiners played when they had free sugar before. Destruction of the beet sugar industry is the bold conspiracy fathomed by the free traders in sugar.—Pueblo Star-Journal.

If the Star-Journal really believed this, why did it support its fellow-townsmen, Edward Keating, for congress, knowing he was pledged to work for free sugar?

COLOMBIA CANT COMPLAIN

ARTHUR RUHL, writing in the January Atlantic, argues that the United States should do something to compensate Colombia for what he rather broadly intimates was Roosevelt's theft of Panama. He excuses Colombia for her policy towards the isthmus when negotiations for the construction of the canal were pending, on the ground that Colombian pride was wounded at the mere suggestion that Colombia, for a monetary compensation, should part with its sovereignty over the isthmus. Yet Mr. Ruhl now urges that a monetary payment be made Colombia to restore friendly relations. Evidently the only offense to Colombian pride in the first place was in the amount of money offered!

No compensation is due Colombia, however. She tried to gouge the United States. And, when the United States threatened to build the canal through Nicaragua, the people of Panama, anxious for action, long-oppressed by Colombia, revolted. The United States recognized the new republic of Panama, a treaty was entered into, the canal was built.

And for this result Colombia has no one to blame but her own grasping politicians.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

What has become of the proposition you started a short time ago about the advisability of the city taking over the street railway? What has prevented the consideration and proper agitation of this question? Surely now is the time for the people to interest themselves in this matter before it is too late. The Stratton trustees announce that they intend to sell the railway; if they sell it they will have to invest their money in something to bring them an interest.

Why should not this railway, which in fact belongs to the people, be purchased by the city with bonds and then the Stratton home will have a sure income upon their investment? Surely if Mr. Stratton were alive, or had lived a little longer, he doubtless would have arranged a plan by which his fellow citizens would eventually become the owners of this public utility, which the people ought to own.

If the property gets into alien hands the chances are that the price would be raised most materially if the city wanted to purchase it, and if the trustees are unwilling to sell now to the city, we better get together and condemn it before it is too late. The people would be only coming into their own if the railway is taken over by the city and as long as the people have not got to support this charity, the Stratton home, why don't we look far enough ahead and act to prevent the loss of this public utility which belongs to the city? It seems to me it would be advisable for the trustees to help this city, because the citizens are going to have something to say when the franchisees are to be renewed. Perhaps the trustees could get something now for the years for which the franchisees are yet to run, and possibly when the franchisees are up the people are going to haggle about the value of the franchisees, and it is possible that the trustees might lose out.

Neither is it understandable why the trustees should object to the city taking over this property. It is nothing to them individually; they have no personal pecuniary interest in the matter; they don't have to make the property earn them a living, but it is a great deal to the citizens and to the Stratton home, and these trustees will certainly be condemned if they allow it to get into such a position that the city cannot purchase it, or can purchase it only at a very much higher figure.

I have heard a number of the citizens talk in this way and I think you ought to keep this matter before the people continually, "let us forget."

CHARLES P. HARTLEY.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY PROSPECTS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
It is refreshing to see your paper publishing good news for our progressive voters. The newspapers here, for partisan reasons, studiously ignore us—hoping, of course, that their readers may forget the party, that in three months' time rose to second place in the nation.

For that is what the election returns show, according to the New York Tribune: Wilson, 6,969, 083; then Bryan received in each of the years 1892, 1896 and 1900, Roosevelt, 4,186,564; Taft, 3,439,629; Debs, 896,169.

And the vote of the states is highly instructive. Roosevelt carried six (Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota, South Dakota, Washington and California), while Taft carried only two (Utah and Vermont). In only 16 of the remaining 34 states did Taft get second place, and in these chiefly through local influence, as in Wisconsin from the disaffection of La Follette, and in Missouri through the timidity of Hadley, in Ohio on the "favorite son" plea, in New York by the hostility of Wall Street, and in other states by the open switching of the stalwart vote to Wilson.

In the south we polled a large Democratic vote as results show, getting second place in more than half of the states, distancing Taft in North Carolina 40,000, in West Virginia 32,000, in Alabama 15,000, in Georgia 15,800, in Mississippi 2,000, in Louisiana 5,500. Now watch that vote grow in 1914!

Our vote is increasing in the senate, too. We gain Sterling in South Dakota in place of Gamble, who voted against unsetting Lorimer; and we gain Norris in Nebraska, who was the leader in the house of the movement that dethroned Cannon. Borah is returned from Idaho, Kenyon from Iowa and Poinsett from Washington. With Weeks of California, Cummins of Iowa, Clapp of Minnesota, Bristow of Kansas, and Crawford of South Dakota, we have 19, and if La Follette gets over his grudge, 21, with some chance of the senator from Michigan, chosen as a Progressive, and Nelson of Minnesota with us a part of the time. We have some hope of one from Illinois, and there are other prospects.

To get justice how the Denver Republican of the twenty-fourth reports negotiations for union in Denver "on the initiative of the progressives" (never, just as false now as such reports last October); and a committee from the standpats, containing such dyed-in-the-wool, all-the-time stalwarts as Orvis, Dollison and Mrs. Scott. Of course they want harmony on the convention plan for commission government—if they can be given control of the convention. All sincere Progressives object to such a union. Better far to unite with those progressive Democrats, who are doubtful of the amendment plan—in view of the decision of our supreme court—and sincere in their anxiety to get commission government by the best and speediest method. Whether by amendment or convention plan, we must have an up-to-date new charter.

MOUTHS

By RUTH CAMERON.

Don't you just enjoy seeing a nice looking middle-aged woman—a well-groomed, trim, erect woman—who has not felt obliged to throw all pretensions to style and good grooming to the winds, just because she happens to have left the fiftieth milestone behind her?

And the other day I caught sight of an exceptionally fine example of this rare species—or rather I thought I had.

She was sitting across from me in the trolley car, and at first I caught only fugitive glimpses of her between straphangers. She wore the trimmest of tailored suits and a simple but chic waist; a thoroughly stylish hat was placed at the right angle on her charmingly fluffed gray hair.

And then, just as I was saying to myself, "well that woman's husband and children must be proud of her," a group of straphangers moved on and gave me a full face view.

Whereupon I changed my mind.

For the woman's face was completely marred by a very ugly mouth.

It was one of those tight, hard mouths that spoil the prettiest faces. It wasn't of an essentially ugly shape; in fact, it was a very pretty shape upon a time, but it had evidently been distorted into its present condition by the temperament of its owner.

And truly, that hard, repellent line across her face, completely marred her face and indeed the whole effect of her otherwise charming appearance.

If you are any student of faces at all, you must surely have noticed how many of the faces you see in the trolley cars, in the streets, in the shops, in short everywhere you go, are marred by ugly mouths.

I don't mean intrinsically homely mouths, but mouths made ugly by the character habits and temperaments of their owners.

How many tight mouths, how many sensual mouths, how many disappointed mouths, how many haughty mouths we see everywhere. When once in a while we catch a glimpse of a sweet, sensitive, beautiful mouth, it is like finding a wild flower growing in the cracks of a city pavement.

Have you noticed, too, how rare is a mouth with the corners turned up? There are at least 10 straight, even mouths and 10 others with mournfully drooping corners, to one with the perky, upward curve, which means that the owner of that mouth has the priceless gift of happiness.

We make our mouths more than any other feature of our faces. Our lives, while themselves out in the shape of the mouth and the lines about it, will strike clearness. It doesn't seem as if even a child could fail to see the hardness of some mouths. Mouths advertise a man or woman's character as blazingly and blatantly as an electric sign.

What is your mouth saying about you?

CLOUDS

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Biwash."

A cloud is a celestial sprinkler system operated in the interests of the umbrella trust.

As a matter of fact, a cloud is a trust itself, because it cannot be regulated. It does as it pleases, and nothing pleases it more than to arrange itself over a ball game or a church picnic, and dump about 1,000,000,000 gallons of fancy moisture on the festive scene.

Nothing gives a large brunette cloud more pleasure than to travel away from a cornfield which is turning a genteel brown for want of water and to rain on a ball game. If science could equip our clouds with rudders and install licensed pilots on them, agriculture would boom as never before, and promoters of country fairs and summer parks could place their stock with ease.

There are two principal kinds of clouds, viz: cirrus and cumulus. A cirrus cloud looks like $2,000,000 worth of cotton batting, and can be walked under with impunity, but one should approach a cumulus cloud carefully and with a waterproof. Cumulus clouds are so named from their habit of accumulating all the water power in the county and then letting go of it with a loud report.

Clouds inhabit the sky and are usually a mile or two above ground. By ascending a mountain, one can walk into a cloud and feel its ribs and can also ascend above it and throw orange peels down on it. In Switzerland the farmers live, and the clouds and when the malicious farmer turns his cow out to graze he tethers her to prevent her from walking off a precipice onto a large cumulus cloud and sailing over into the next canyon.

Since aeroplanes and sky-scramblers have been invented, men have become much more familiar with clouds. Playing hide and seek around a thunder head in monoplanes is now one of the favorite methods of ascending the golden stair by the rebound system.

In New York the office buildings are now so high that clouds often enter the upper stories and the busy captain of industry often has to shoo the tail end of a thunder storm off his desk before he can read his morning's mail.

In Scotland, clouds make their home close to the ground and fore nothing better than to creep inside the vest of the shivering tourist and nestle there. Nothing is colder or clammy than a cloud when it is crawling inside of a collar. Scotchmen are hardly because they have been brought up to play with clouds and endure them with fortitude. Having learned this, nothing else can kill them.

Clouds often make a great nuisance of themselves, but they also make the world habitable. The land which has no clouds has no crops or real estate and doesn't cast enough votes in the fall election to be noticeable in the returns.

Minister Becomes An Undertaker to Dissipate Gloom

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—The Rev. Dr. Bradford Leavitt, one of the best known clergymen of San Francisco, has resigned his pastorate of the First Unitarian church of this city to become an undertaker.

Dr. Leavitt made this announcement here today, saying that he had been compelled to abandon the ministry on account of weakness of the eyes, and that he was entering the undertaking profession in the hope of "dispelling its atmosphere of superstition and gloom which we have inherited from the heartless and sometimes heathen methods and ideas of the past."

In a letter addressed to his congregation, he explained in detail his reasons for the change.

There is something to be said in our methods of dealing with death," said Dr. Leavitt. "The Chinese are far more civilized in this. I am aware of the darkening of houses, the pulling down of blinds and the general morbid atmosphere that is affected in a house stricken by death. We know there is no cause for mourning. There is a glory in death that we cloud by abnormal formalities, which may be easily avoided without diminishing the dignity and the solemnity of funeral rites. And above all it is something that can be altered by very little effort."

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA
XIII. EDUCATION IN THE PAST

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

In China education pertains to more than the scholastic activities. It embraces the Chinese government itself. Education is doubtless the basis of present-day affairs in all occidental countries. In China, however, it was more than a base when the old order prevailed and will maintain itself under other forms in the expanding era which the children of Han are now entering. The moldy system of study which the Chinese have at last cast off forever was learning, religion and government all in one. The scholar was everything, everybody else nothing. Plutocratic domination in Europe and America is kindergarten play in comparison with the intellectual arduity which dominated every inch of China for 25 centuries. But, while the ancient education was the chief factor in discounting modern learning and in fighting off modern methods for so many decades, the new, western education was responsible for the late revolution and will be the republic's backbone henceforth.

Twenty-four centuries before Christ, learning was recognized in China. Every village had a school, every province a college. It is supposed that civil service examinations were begun in the Twenty-third century B. C. Authentic records prove its general use in the Seventh century B. C. It is thought that China was peaceful then. About 200 years of tribal fighting then ensued, whereupon the great sage, Confucius arose, and with him came a system of philosophic-religious-political theory which ruled the Chinese people for 25 centuries.

Trials of Confucianism.

Confucius became the father and mentor of his people, and appreciative interpretation of his maxims by Mencius in the Fourth century added to his glory. But in the next century Confucianism was attacked. In 213 B. C. the emperor ordered the burning of all Confucian books that could be found, and 500 scholars were killed for good measure. The succeeding century witnessed Confucianism better: its devotees being protected by the Han emperors. Its teachings were incorporated in the official studies and the young men so taught became the principal support of the throne against the provincial princes or feudal barons who tried to hold all the important offices by hereditary right. Taoism and Buddhism were successively fostered by the barons to such good purpose that it took the Confucian system of scholastic examinations as the basis of holding public office nearly 700 years to stamp out the divine right claim of the princes and barons. At one time the Confucianists seemed hopelessly beaten, for a cabal of eunuchs got control of the government, putting Taoism in high favor and executing 1,000 disciples of the great sage.

The fight waged back and forth until A. D. 617, when the Tang dynasty came into power. All the colleges in the empire were graded and only those who passed the prescribed examination in the lore of Confucius hoped for or held high government positions. From this period dates the Hsueh Tsai or A. E. and Chin Shih or A. M. degrees which are bestowed for knowledge of Confucian classics straight down the centuries to 1801. The famous Hanlin academy in Peking, which conferred the coveted Doctorate of Letters, was founded in A. D. 740. Centuries before Oxford, Heidelberg, Prague and Harvard were ever dreamed of, those sands of cultured and powerful Chinese gentlemen, holding the A. B. and A. M. degrees, often past the prime of life, journey by blunt river craft, springless carts and sometimes on foot to strive for the priceless Doctorate of Letters at this shrine of the mind. This noble institution was burned and thousands of volumes reduced to ashes in the Boxer movement. It still exists in name but its influence is waning rapidly.

Three Character Classic.

Study of Confucianism begins with the boy (no attention was paid to the girls until quite recently) with the Three Character classic. This is a primer which philosophizes at random on men, manners and morals, gives the biographies of great scholars and reviews and comments on dynastic history. A companion study is the Ode for Children, teaching the child piety for which the Chinese are noted. The Thousand Character classic is absorbed when the boy grows to youth. Upon reaching young manhood the Chinese man who aspires to scholastic honors then takes up the higher branches. The course he must pursue consists of only 15 volumes but there are thousands of

Two Views of the Dance Hall Question

THE DANCE HALL STRIP

From the Colorado City Iris.
During the last 10 days or so there has been quite an amount of agitation in Colorado Springs over the dance hall question. It is being agitated by the dance hall strippers who have attended dances at these halls to the State Industrial school by County Judge Kinney. Naturally, such a discussion provokes more or less resentment, especially among those who attend such places, and this is no exception. But there is hardly any reason for the display of hysterics that was exhibited by a few because of the incidental mention of the fact that the girls sent to the industrial school had also attended dances by the Colorado City girls, which brought the name of the city into the first part of the discussion.

What the real merits of the case are we do not pretend to be able to judge at this distance. The discussion has interest to us more because it is an evidence of an awakening among the people in this part of the state to a grave situation that because we are interested to show that one view is better or worse than others, or that all are alike good or bad. And in this help, admitting and approving the attitude and action of Mr. Robbins, whose name has been brought into the matter without any intention on the part of those starting the investigation, as we know from direct statements by them. Wherever the immediate blame may be fixed for conditions criticized, one thing is always true, and that is that the people as a whole must be made to see the need to realize this fact, and be self-reliant, as seems to be the case in the present instance, that a real reform takes place. It is true that we are our brother's keeper, and it is our business to act as though we were. When we do this very little work will be left for the police or the courts to do in such cases. A healthy public sentiment is a more effective cure for all these evils than all the courts and police officers that can be employed.

ANOTHER MALICIOUS LIE

From the Colorado City Argus.
Yesterday's Gazette contains another malicious lie about this city, in speaking of the rotten dance hall conditions in Colorado Springs. It says: "In one respect the regulation of dances in Colorado Springs will prove very difficult. There are dance halls conveniently located in Colorado City, which, of course, no regulation by Colorado Springs can affect."

The statement is made through ignorance or maliciousness, and in either case is inexorable. In the first case, it is unnecessary for him to come to this city, could learn conditions here by using the telephone. But facts are not wanted. Something to divert attention from the rotten conditions in the Springs is sufficient. The Gazette and Dodge are both bogus reformers and grandstand players. At The Theater

"THE BLUE BIRD"

The news of "The Blue Bird" engagement next Friday and Saturday, at the Grand Opera house has brought joy to both the children and the adult players of this city and vicinity. For rarely has an attraction been booked that so appeals to the young at heart of all ages. It is because the poor children of the woodcutter's cottage have no one to bring them gifts and because happiness is likewise denied to a neighbor's sick child, that they go forth to seek the blue bird, which signifies happiness. The quest of the blue bird turns out to be a wonderful excursion. "The boy," Titiv, and the girl, Mytil, are accompanied by the Fairy Berylune, guided by Light, followed by their animal companions, the Dog and the Cat, while Milk, Bread, Water, Fire, Sugar and other everyday objects assume bodily presence and life to accompany them on awakening. "The Blue Bird" sought and almost captured in distant climes is finally found right within their own door. Such is the barest outline of Maurice Maeterlinck's fairy fantasy, which, translated into many different languages and played in every civilized country, has brought to children and adults everywhere a new meaning of the word "happiness." In the presentation here is promised the same gorgeous series of spectacles that entertained New Yorkers at the New theater. Practically the same company that played New York a year or so ago is coming here to interpret the play. The principal child roles are in the hands of Master Buford Hamilton and little Miss Editha Kelly. Among the others in the cast are Harry Lambert and Cecil Yapp, as the faithful Dog and the treacherous Cat; Winifred Harris, as Light; Alice Butler, as the Fairy; Gwendolyn Valentine, as Water; John Sutherland, forever. There is entertainment for folks of all ages in "The Blue Bird." To the children it appeals as fun and spectacle, while to the grownups it has the deeper meaning of symbolizing man's restless search for happiness and contentment. And this double appeal goes far toward explaining its universal popularity. Certainly no other theatrical attraction has excited a more extraordinary interest in this city, and the number of tickets sold for both night performances and matinees has been unprecedentedly large. There will be a special gala matinee Saturday.

DONALD BRIAN IN "THE SIREN"

With its charming music, delightfully intoxicating dances, elaborate and accurate stage direction, and throughout pervaded with the buoyancy and charm of youth and happiness, "The Siren," Charles Frohman's presentation of the Viennese romantic opera-ture, "The Siren," comes to the Grand Opera house, Monday, February 4. A more ideal attraction could not be had. It is doubtful if there is a single musical attraction on tour this season that is more delightful than "The Siren." In it Donald Brian is making his first extensive tour of the country. This unusually graceful and clever young man became famous in a single night when he danced the original role of Prince Danile in the first production of "The Merry Widow." His services in this part were demanded by New York for two solid years. Then the following year he was divided between Boston and Philadelphia. Next he was featured by Charles Frohman in the New York presentation of "The Dollar Princess," and remained in that for two years, appearing only in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia.

Mr. Frohman elevated him to stardom and presented him in "The Siren," which has proved one of the most successful of musical comedies in recent years. Brian played this for almost a year in New York, and is now making his bow to the theatergoers of the nation in the same vehicle and supported by the original company of well-known artists seen with him during the long run of the piece at the Knickerbocker theater in New York.

The story of "The Siren" is a pretty one, and far above the ordinary plot of such offerings in the nature of the logic and coherency of the theme. Brian is seen in the role of a young marquis, whose fancy runs to the writing of humorous verse. He goes a little too far when he writes things considered highly sedition and derogatory to the throne. The minister of police is ordered to make an example of the young and noble culprit. In order to fasten the crime on the marquis, the police chief must have a specimen of the marquis' handwriting.

The sirens, a band of the court's most beautiful women, are enlisted to use their wiles in coaxing from him some written word. They fail, but a simple country maid accomplishes the trick with ease, as the marquis loses his head and heart over her. The siren is an innocent one, and all ends happily, but not until many complications and humorous situations are developed. There are scenes in the play which are really dramatic, and the curtain on the second act falls upon a scene wherein there is but a single and weeping girl on the stage. This is unique in musical comedy.

Brian has a role that suits him and his peculiar grace and poise. Ideally for his most intricate and wonderful dances he has, in winsome and charming little Carroll McCormack, a partner highly worthy of the honor. The pair present a picture of buoyant and happy youth, and this spirit attains all through the three elaborate acts. Other well-known principals in the supporting cast are: Edroll Williams, Ethel Cadman, an English prima donna with a golden voice; Harry Delf, Florence Morrison, John Morgan, Clary, Cyril Hildrup, Gene Cole, Victor L. Roy and Edith Burch. The famous array of sirens and the chorus ensemble represent the very pick of Mr. Frohman's leading musical organization in London and New York.

NORRIS BILL APPROVED BY SENATE COMMITTEE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Norris bill to authorize government seizure of imported merchandise controlled by a trust, or imported under illegal contracts, was approved today by the senate judiciary committee. The measure is aimed at the Brazilian coffee monopoly and has passed the house.

M'MILLAN CHARGES ARE HELD UP ON CONDITION THAT HE LEAVE AT ONCE
On his promise never to return to El Paso or Pueblo counties, where within the last few years he has engaged in numerous sensational exploits, K. E. McMillan, formerly postmaster at Amo, last night was permitted by the Pueblo authorities to leave for California. The Pueblo officials say that charges of assault preferred against him by his relatives had been conditionally dismissed, provided that he leave this section forever. McMillan is accompanied to California by an armed guard, if he returns he is to be prosecuted, as the warrants will be held against him.

When the district attorney's office and the sheriff in Colorado Springs learned early last night that the Pueblo authorities had granted McMillan permission to leave the state, they immediately began action to hold him for trial on the charge against him in El Paso county—assault last Friday upon his sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Jackson, at the Jackson ranch near Wigan, 24 miles south of Colorado Springs. They were unable, however, to prevent the removal of McMillan when informed that his relatives had dismissed the charges against him.

According to information from Pueblo, McMillan is mentally affected by the high altitude, this being as an explanation of his conduct, and a physician advised his removal to California in the belief that the change might restore him to normal condition.

Two weeks before the alleged assault upon Mrs. Jackson at the ranch, it is said that McMillan assaulted her husband, Walter Jackson, at a saw-mill near the ranch, but in Pueblo county, according to the charge against him in Pueblo.

After McMillan had threatened the life of Deputy Sheriff Hobbs, who went to the Jackson ranch last Friday to arrest him for the alleged assault on Mrs. Jackson, a sheriff's posse from Colorado Springs pursued him to Pueblo, where he sought refuge in his home when driven to bay. He barricaded himself in the house and defied the officers with a shotgun, but surrendered the following morning.

TAFT APPOINTMENT FIGHT MAY EXTEND TO WILSON'S TERM
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The fight over President Taft's appointments was on in earnest in the senate today, and for six hours Republicans and Democrats battled behind closed doors, the former demanding action on the nominations and the latter filibustering to prevent. When adjournment came this evening it was expected that the fight would be renewed tomorrow unless Republican leaders should decide to rest upon the record made today.

As a result of the development of the filibusters, intimations were given tonight by Republican senators that the fight undoubtedly would extend into President-elect Wilson's administration and be reflected in the senate's action on many of his appointments.

PUBLIC UTILITIES BILL GIVES ADDITIONAL POWER
DENVER, Jan. 28.—The judiciary committee of the senate today reported out the public utilities court bill, so amended as to enlarge the powers of the present state railway commission and delegate to it the duties of a public utilities court. The number of commissioners was not increased.

The senate today passed the Cross local corporation "blue sky" bill on second reading. State Insurance Commissioner Clayton was on the floor of the senate during the debate, and was accused of unlawful lobbying against the measure by Senator Cross, its author. Senator Cross declared he did not mind Clayton's being away from his office since the work of the insurance commissioner probably was being cared for better in his absence than when he was present, "but that he wished to call attention to the state law which prohibited state officials from lobbying for or against a bill."

In the house today the Gallup bill, providing a penalty for the transportation of voters to polls by any political party, was passed on second reading.

Healthy Baby Is Precious Blessing

To Make It Healthy and Keep It Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative

DOROTHY JOHNSON.

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative—constipation is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. Thorpe to Play League Ball; to Retain Prizes

Sweden Commends U. S. Honesty;
Is Not Being Criticised

CARLISLE, Pa., Jan. 28. James Thorpe, champion athlete, probably will make baseball his profession since participation in all forms of amateur athletics is now denied him. He has not yet signed with any team, although numerous offers have been made him since last summer. He receives sympathy, rather than censure, here. He has been popular while at the Indian school, and has not displayed "professional" spirit.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 28. Swedish newspapers, commenting on the disclosure that James Thorpe was a professional athlete when he competed in the Olympic games here last summer, commend the honesty displayed by the Americans in making the fact known.

Leading athletic authorities express the opinion that Thorpe is entitled to retain the prizes he won in the pentathlon and decathlon, as his status as an amateur was questioned too late.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The case of James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian school athlete, who has confessed to professionalism, has called forth very little comment here. Among the evening papers the Globe says, in a brief paragraph:

"While it is disagreeable to find one of the most prominent American athletes convicted of professionalism, the Amateur Athletic union of the United States is to be congratulated on having acted promptly and returned all the prizes won by the athlete in question. Surely, however, the standing of a competitor ought to have been discovered before and not after the Olympic games."

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—Col. Robert L. Hedges, president of the St. Louis American league club, said tonight he was making efforts to obtain the services of James Thorpe, who has announced he will play professional baseball. Hedges did not say what progress the negotiations had made. If he obtains Thorpe he will have two former Carlisle stars, as Joe Banti, outfielder, has signed a contract for the 1913 season.

GOOD SHOOTING AT BIG TEXAS HANDICAP MEET

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 28.—W. S. Heer, professional, of Guthrie, Okla., turned in high score today in the Sunnysouth handicap, breaking 196 out of a possible 200 targets. Of the amateurs, George Crosby of O'Fallon, Ill., and Bart Lewis of Auburn, Ill., tied for high honors with 190 breaks.

C. G. Spencer of St. Louis was second professional, with 189, and Mr. A. D. Topperwein of San Antonio, and H. Borden of Houston tied for third place with 184. Nicholas Arle of Houston was second amateur with a score of 187, and Jesse Long of Chicago and E. W. Warner of Adams, Neb., tied for third place with 183 breaks.

JIM FLYNN WILL BE WESTERN LEAGUE UMPIRE

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Friends of Jim Flynn, the pugilist, received word tonight that he had signed a contract to umpire in the Western league next year. He now is in Pueblo. Flynn has umpired many games for exhibition purposes, and he is said to have shown control over the players.

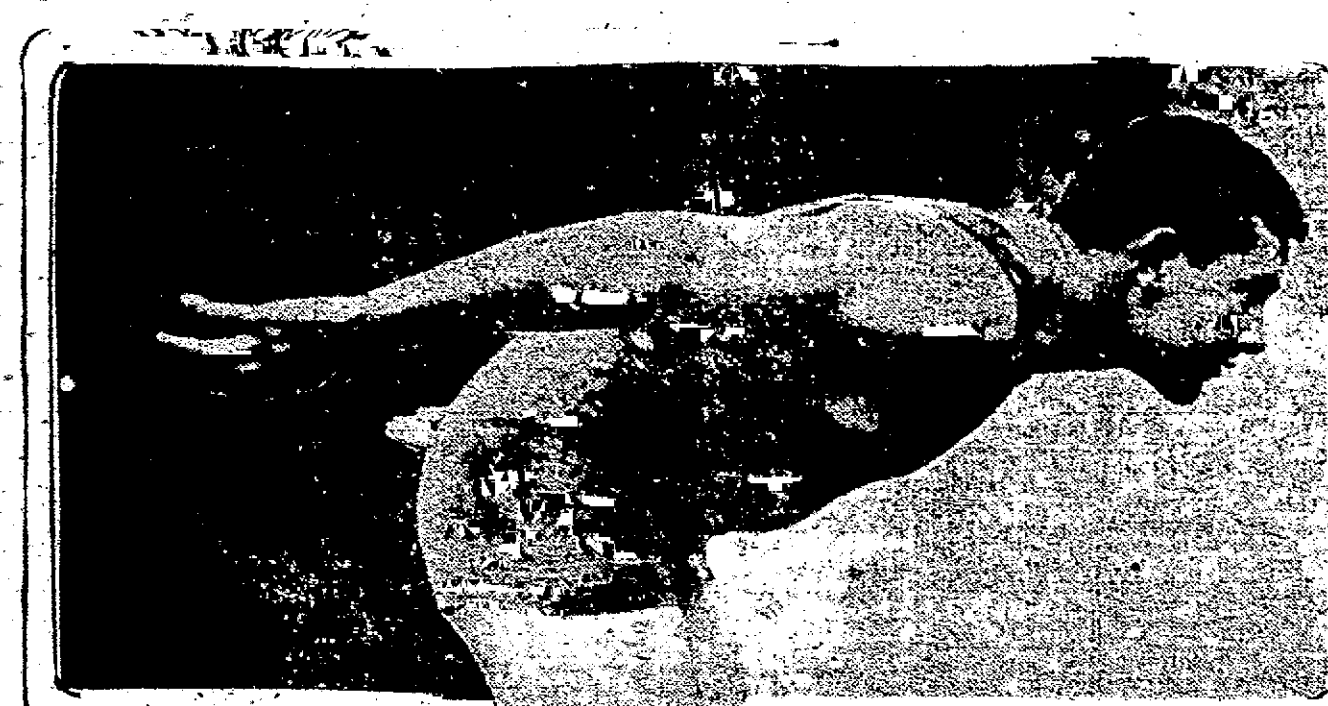

COMMITTEES ARE SELECTED IN DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—A brief caucus of the Democratic members of the house continued today the following committee selections made by the caucus and means committee:

To be chairman of the public lands committee, Representative Scott Farris of Oklahoma; foreign affairs, C. E. Smith of New York; appropriations, Representative White of Ohio; and Representative Rothermel of Pennsylvania.

MACK'S SON A MANAGER

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 28.—Earl Mack, son of Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, signed a contract here today to lead the Raleigh team in the North Carolina league. It will be his first managerial experience.

PARCEL POST AND FUDGE SPOIL BASKETBALLERS

OLIVET, Mich., Jan. 28.—The combination of parcel post and fudge has nearly ruined the Olivet basketball team. So declared Capt. George Rider, in leading an order that his men abstain from the sweet confection for the next 10 weeks.

"I wouldn't have had to do this if it were not for the parcel post," said the greatest athlete at Olivet, sorrowfully. "I find, however, that several of the 'big fellows' on the squad are receiving large packages of fudge from the girls they fall behind when they returned from their holiday vacations."

Postmaster Green, in looking up the basket ball captain, declared that five times more fudge is now being received at Olivet through the mails than before the parcel post station was inaugurated.

SPORTING MAXIMS RETOLD

What is called fighting spirit in our own is cowardice in theirs.

Doing to others as well be done by would be conceding everything.

The gleamer of class soon fades when performance loses its edge.

The discard grows with first-class cards that sharply and just.

The weakest may be transformed into the strongest by association.

It's hard to expect anything to come clean from unclean hands; a friend of sport must swallow hard when he sizes up the dealers.

One cannot be neutral without some negligence.

Auto-intoxication, trying to give a logical reason for prejudice.

Self-hypnotism: Imagining the cards are stacked in your interest.

The interest of mere incidents—yourself.

Don't say you will do it, tomorrow when you know it's impossible.

Stalling is a poor way to ease the force of the inevitable blow.

We should regulate our own gain before we put hobbies on others.

ASK HELP FOR COACH STIEHM

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 28.—Nebraska next fall will have a new system of coaching football eleven if the plans of the Omaha alumni of the university are accepted by the regents and chancellor. The Omaha Cornhuskers have suggested that Coach Ewald Stiehm be retained as head coach of the football eleven, but that he also be given five assistants—picked from among Nebraska graduates—and an advisory board of five members to aid him in planning the gridiron campaign and to help him meet conditions which arise during the progress of the season. The Omaha alumni of the Cornhusker school are dissatisfied with the results that the university eleven have obtained during the last few years. The five assistant coaches will receive a regular salary for the football season.

Hvers Wants Change in Rule; Opposes 'Stealing'

Cubs' Manager Would Cut Down
Number of Balls Given

When the Chicago Cubs manager, H. V. Hvers, was asked today whether he would support the proposed change in the rule regarding stealing, he replied that he would not. He said that the rule was already too lenient, and that it was necessary to have a rule that would prevent a player from stealing a base without being caught. He said that he would support a rule that would require a player to be caught with the ball in his hand before he could be considered a thief.

WHITE SOX HAVE CLEVER METHOD TO REST PITCHERS

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—When it comes to delaying a ball game to give a pitcher time to collect himself, for a while the White Sox have every other team in the world beat. Here's the way they do it.

First, Coach Gleason dashes out to dispute a play, no matter how trivial it is, and then he goes back to the clubhouse to get a pitcher to get a rest. Then, Coach Gleason dashes out to dispute a play, no matter how trivial it is, and then he goes back to the clubhouse to get a pitcher to get a rest.

Under the rule, a pitcher who is not allowed to pitch in a game must be replaced by another pitcher. This rule is often used to delay a game, and it is often used to give a pitcher time to rest.

The foul strike rule has increased the effectiveness of the pitcher to an alarming degree, so that, in many cases, they should not be allowed to pitch in a game. This rule is often used to delay a game, and it is often used to give a pitcher time to rest.

Several baseball men, who discussed Hvers' suggestions yesterday, seemed to think that the three-day rule might find favor, as it would tend to lessen the effectiveness of the pitcher, but they also argued that if the "three-day" rule was adopted, it would be a great advantage to the pitcher, as it would give him more time to rest.

The "stealing of signs" has been a great advantage to the pitcher, as it has allowed him to see the catcher's signals. This rule is often used to delay a game, and it is often used to give a pitcher time to rest.

MME. PASQUALI DELIGHTS AUDIENCE AT THE BURNS

Mme. Bernice de Pasquali, successor to Mrs. Sembrich as leading coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, delighted an all too small audience at The Burns theater last night. The appearance of this famous artist, whose singing was all and more than claimed for it, deserved a packed house, instead of the comparatively few music lovers who attended. Those that were there, however, went into ecstasies over her clear, pure tones. Her finished technique and her sympathetic tones.

Mme. de Pasquali has a fine stage appearance and much dramatic ability, and wins her audience, as shown by ready applause.

The program was designed to give her great opportunity in coloratura work. In spite of her splendid coloratura, some of her best work was done in those selections of a more subdued character. Her best florid singing was "La Calandrina," an old Seventeenth-century Italian song.

The number from Massenet's "Le Cid" was excellently sung, and the last number, "Ora una volta," by Gounod, showed her at her best.

The appreciation of the audience was evidenced when Mme. Pasquali was called back many times. She gave three encores, and one of them, "Will-o-the-Wisp," by Spontini, itself was encored, and she gave the "Low-Backed Car."

The only operatic number on the program was "The Good-Bye" from "Hamlet." She chose classics of the

GYPSY LOVE TAXES GRAND OPERA HOUSE TO CAPACITY

By S. F. N.

At the Grand Opera house last night A. H. Woods presented Franz Lehar's comic opera, "Gypsy Love," to one of the largest audiences of the season.

The humor of the piece is keen and clever. The music is possessed of a charm, lilt and enchanting swing that will cause it to be whistled and hummed for many days. Phyllis Partington, the California prima donna, was the principal feminine role, that of Zorka, the young woman with a soprano voice of strength and quality, Arthur Albro, a young Russian tenor, has a remarkably strong and sweet voice, in the role of Jozsi, a gypsy musician.

In the story of the opera, Zorka, daughter of Niklas, is filled with a desire for a nomadic life. She is affianced to Fedor, a nobleman, but falls in love with Jozsi, his half brother, and a gypsy musician. In the wedding night and she promises to elope with Jozsi and join him in his loving life. Zorka, Zorka's nurse, discovered her secret and persuades her to discontinue the mystic spring which will give her an insight into the future. Zorka drinks and falls asleep. The second act shows her dream. It reveals her position as it would be after three years when she would have grown tired of the gypsy life. Her lover is tired of her. She is awakened by Jozsi, who implores her to make haste and fly with him, but with the remembrance of the dream fresh in her mind, she turns from the love he offers and flees to the arms of her betrothed.

The story is rather vague, but the music is indeed catchy. The production is elaborate, and with its extra large singing chorus, remarkable costumes and augmented orchestra, was well worth the patronage.

Lehar composed "The Merry Widow" and "Gypsy Love." "Merry Widow" wins by a length.

M'KINLEY MEMENTO IS FOUND IN A PAWN SHOP

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Displayed in the window of a Broadway pawn broker shop is a handsome 14-carat gold plate which bears an invitation from the California commandery number 1, Knights Templar, to the late President McKinley, requesting his attendance at an assembly held in San Francisco on the night of May 17, 1901. The invitation is signed by the recorder and secretary of the commandery. In one corner appears a handsome enameled insignia of the lodge, in the center of which is a blue-white diamond of at least a carat in weight. The gold tablet is inclosed in a box which bears the sign of the order.

Among New York friends of the late president considerable surprise has been expressed that the plate had ever fallen into such hands, especially as there has been no intimation that any member of his family was in want. Prominent members of the order, it is believed, will take some action to recover the jewel.
